

I believe Indiana's current no-call law is working very well and would not like to see it watered down by federal moves. Used to be, if I were home from work for some reason, I'd always get two or three unwanted calls a day, usually about buying windows. Now that I work at home, I never get those calls. I'd like to keep it that way!